

Is Stoneware Made of Stones?

PREBLE COUNTY ANTIQUE STUDY GROUP

June 14, 2011

	Interstate 70	N ↑
Exit	21	Dayton
1 mi	BROOKVILLE
	Westbrook
3 mi	Amity Road
	X 12620 Amity Rd.
Johnsville	Brookville Road ←
	US 35
West Alex	New Lebanon

The Preble County Antique Study group is invited to the home of Bud and Jan Brady on Tuesday, June 14th for a discussion of American ceramics. This will include an overview of fired and glazed products. The lecture is intended to help you understand the differences between such terms as stoneware, china, porcelain, red ware, pottery, and Limoges. Examples of American ceramics will be on display. Bring your own examples for discussion. Hopefully we will also have a guest speaker who can address the different glazing processes used in ceramics and answer technical questions.

6 pm—Potluck dinner in the barn. Drinks, meat and dishware will be provided. Bring a covered dish to share.

7 pm—lecture will begin.

RSVP to Preble County Historical Society 937-787-4256

Meeting address: 12620 Amity Road, Brookville 937-833-4341